Tennent's Premium Oak Aged Beer

Scotland

Type: Beer, Special beer

Producer: Tennent's

Product:

Tennent's Beer Aged with Whisky Oak is the culmination of four hop varieties – Zeus, Summit, Tettnang and Aurora. It is brewed using a complex recipe of three types of locally sourced Scottish malt and the pure waters of Loch Katrine.

The Tennent's Brewing and Fermentation process takes a minimum of three weeks. It incorporates the process of warm maturation and the ageing of the beer in Speyside Single Malt Whisky infused oak chips.

After fermentation and oak ageing, the fermented beer is repeatedly re-circulated over the chips before it is stored in a maturation vessel where the oak, vanilla and whisky flavours imparted during the ageing process continue to mature.

The end result is an approachable yet complex beer, which offers a memorable drinking experience.

Producer:

Tennent Caledonian Breweries is one of the UK's oldest brewers, with a heritage that stretches back across the centuries to the days of beer making in its very earliest forms. As far back as the 1550s, before Tennent's opened for business, our archive shows that brewing was taking place at our Wellpark site in Glasgow on the banks of the Molendiner Burn. It's no surprise then that our business has a rich and fascinating history, mirroring and often pioneering the great milestones of the beer industry itself. The gates of Wellpark on Glasgow's Duke Street open onto a significant complex of brewing and operational facilities. We have the capacity and capabilities for brewing, kegging, bottling, canning, packaging, warehousing and distribution all within the site – a brewing 'one stop shop' that benefits our own brands and those of industry customers. Our full commercial team is based here, and it also includes our new Tennent's Training Academy, which provides training excellence for thousands of people entering the Scottish hospitality industry.
